July 9 to 14, 2017

A gathering for young leaders!

Join our Crane Leadership group and become a university student for a week while staying in residence on campus. In Anishinaabe culture, members of the Crane clan possess natural leadership qualities. They will connect to the theme of water while enhancing their understanding of identity, culture and living in balance using the foundations of the Medicine Wheel and 7 teachings of the Anishinaabe.

Cranes build their leadership skills by participating in the Western Leadership Education Program. They will broaden their knowledge in areas of study including science, health science, engineering, medicine, nursing, dentistry, arts, humanities, social science, business, education and law. Cranes will learn about the university application process and gain inspiration to pursue post-secondary education as they learn to find their place within a university setting.

A Crane is:

- Any Indigenous youth, First Nations (Status or non Status), Métis, Inuit.
- 14-17 years old.

Selection Process:

- There are 20 spots available.
- Selected applicants will be notified by telephone and email by June 9th, 2017.
- All participants must attend an information session with their parent/guardian where they can submit the $75 fee in the form of cash, cheque, money order or e-transfer. If alternate arrangements need to be made please contact Amanda Myers with questions and concerns: 519-661-2111 ext. 86423 or amanda.myers@uwo.ca
