Land Acknowledgement

Western University recognizes that its campus is situated on First Nations territory. The Great Lakes woodland region of Turtle Island has been home to many Nations at different times, including the Anishinaabek, Haudenosaunee, Lunaapeewak, and Huron-Wendat Peoples.

The three First Nations communities in closest proximity to Western are:
- Chippewas of the Thames First Nation;
- Oneida Nation of the Thames; and
- Munsee-Delaware Nation.

For some time, the Dish with One Spoon Covenant Wampum served as an agreement between the Haudenosaunee and Anishinaabek for sharing hunting territory, thus ensuring the viability of human presence on this land into the future. After contact, treaty-making between the Anishinaabek and Great Britain took place. There are several Treaties related to the London area, including the London Township Treaty 6, Sombra Township Treaty 7 and Longwoods Treaty 21.

In addition to her work at a national level, Christy has supported area Anishinaabe, Haudenosaunee, and Lenape Nations, as well as local friendship centres, in advancing outcomes for Indigenous students in the areas of policy, curriculum, and governance.

As one of the first Indigenous women to earn a PhD in Educational Studies from Western, where she also earned her BA (Honours) in History and BEd (with distinction), Christy has strong ties to Western. In addition to teaching at the primary and secondary levels in Ontario and British Columbia, she has also taught several graduate-level courses related to Indigenous culture and education in Western’s Faculty of Education. In 2017/18, she co-chaired the Provost’s Task Force on the Implementation of Western’s Indigenous Strategic Plan. Throughout her career, Christy has demonstrated an ability to bridge cultural differences between people to help ensure inclusive, equitable, and quality education opportunities for all.

The Indigenous Student Centre and our Wampum

An Indigenous Approach to Self-Determination

When designing a new logo for the Indigenous Student Centre, Indigenous students wanted to revitalize the longstanding practice of creating and using a Wampum agreement, formalized in a Wampum belt.

Wampum belts are traditionally made of quahog shells and have been used by the Haudenosaunee since time immemorial. They represent shared values, and can express understandings that range from the simplest agreement between two people to more complicated agreements between Nations.

The Indigenous Initiatives Wampum exemplifies the guiding principles necessary to uphold the Indigenous Student Centre’s vision, purpose and goals through an Indigenous approach.

About the creators: Lori and Jason George are Western alumni of the Indigenous Studies Program in the Faculty of Social Science. Lori is Haudenosaunee from Oneida Nation of the Thames, and Jason is Pottawatomi from Aazhoodenong.
Visiting Elders

The ISC is proud to be able to offer various forms of cultural counselling, teaching, and guidance for our Indigenous students. These supports from community members, Elders, and counsellors are available through various ISC programming, as well as through one-on-one meetings with students.

Indigenous Elders bring vitally important Indigenous ways of knowing, languages, and cultural practices into the university learning and work context, and our Elders are here to support students during their university journey.

• Head and Heart Research Fellow 2022 and 2023/2024 Cohort
• Member of Indigenous Circles of Support and Leadership
• USRI research intern 2023
• Class Note-taker 2022/2023

Returning to school as a biracial Métis student and a mother of three, I wasn’t sure where I would belong. However, the ISC has openly welcomed me. They provide me with a place of belonging and help me overcome imposter syndrome. My journey at Western has been full of opportunities to socialize on and off campus with caring individuals who want to see me succeed.

Academically the staff at the ISC have guided me through challenging decisions and helped me overcome difficult obstacles. As a result, I aim to obtain my Ph.D., and Western has been full of research opportunities that nurture my Indigeneity and passion for learning. I couldn’t imagine attending a school without the resources and experiences available through the ISC.

Having just completed my undergraduate degree here at Western, my only regret is not accessing the Indigenous Student Centre earlier on. The ISC provides such a safe space, with supports for every facet of student wellbeing. There is also such a sense of welcoming and community within the space, and that support and friendship extends to daily life as well. I will be forever grateful for the community I have created here at Western, but especially at the ISC.

There are a number of amazing opportunities available to students through various leadership and research programs, and I would highly recommend incoming students to talk to staff and find ways to get involved. I know even in my short time accessing the space, I’ve felt a stronger connection between my studies in sustainability and cultural values and understanding, and I hope I’ve managed to change some perspectives in my time here. I would love to someday apply my studies to community outreach and help protect and maintain the Earth for many generations to come.

The Wampum Learning Lodge (WLL) is an intercultural teaching, learning, and gathering space at Western University, designed with Indigenous epistemologies and pedagogies at its heart.

The Lodge facilitates and coordinates services and programming offered by Western’s Office of Indigenous Initiatives. It does so in collaboration with University stakeholders and Indigenous organizations and communities in Deshkan Zibiing territory, with the aim of advancing Reconciliation, Indigenization, and decolonization.

The Learning Lodge is located adjacent to the Faculty of Education at 1137 Western Road. The Lodge is a 10,000 square-foot, stand-alone building featuring:

- Unique, circular architecture
- 3 floors, including an upper mezzanine with balcony
- Skylight
- Classroom
- Wellness room
- Wheelchair access
- Adjacent medicine garden

The Wampum Learning Lodge opened Fall 2022!

The Vision:
The Lodge acts as:

- A home-place for Indigenous initiatives;
- A venue that supports and advances Indigenous ways of knowing and Indigenous pedagogies across disciplines;
- A touchstone for Indigenous Peoples and communities to engage with Western through ongoing community engagement and knowledge-mobilization activities;
- A place of connectivity among all people at Western who share a common interest in advancing Indigenization, decolonization, and Reconciliation – fostering a sense of community around diversity.
Undergraduate Admissions

Meet Amanda

Wikwemikong, Eagle clan
- BHS ‘19, BSc ‘21
- SAGE Coordinator

Hi everyone! My name is Amanda, and my families are from Wikwemikong Unceded Reserve on Manitoulin Island, and a small town outside of Kitchener called New Hamburg. I am a master’s student at Schulich School of Medicine and Dentistry in the Department of Pathology and Laboratory Medicine. My project deals with mitochondrial genetics, which could provide evidence for intergenerational trauma at the biological level, thus opening up several healthcare pathways that can help improve the health of Indigenous communities.

I have been at Western since 2013. I obtained two undergraduate degrees before moving on to my master’s. My first degree was difficult to obtain, and I would not have been able to do so without the amazing supports offered by ISC, and now OII and the Wampum Learning Lodge. Before coming to Western, I was very disconnected from my culture because my dad was so far away. ISC staff and students encouraged me to reconnect with my family and make those essential cultural connections. They supported me through every mental health crisis, which I am so grateful for. The ISC kitchen kept me fed while I was struggling for money. I have made so many incredible connections throughout my time at Western and have made a strong reconnection with my family. I owe a lot of my successes to ISC. Migwech to all, and choose Western!

Why study Indigenous Studies at Western?

- Interdisciplinary: Have an opportunity to study multiple areas of importance to Indigenous Peoples in Canada and worldwide, including history, culture, language, health and well-being, and the environment.
- Small Class Sizes: Our average class size ranges between 15 and 20 students. Be a part of a tight-knit community of learners.
- Flexible Program: Combine with another program at Western to design a degree perfect for your interests.
- Research Focus: Upper-year classes are focused on building research skills for community professionalization or graduate school.

Meet Kolbi

Six Nations of the Grand River, Mohawk Nation, Turtle clan

Hello everyone! My name is Kolbi Williams and I am currently in my second year of an honours specialization in Creative Writing and English Language and Literature, with a double Minor in Anthropology and Indigenous Studies. I chose to study and learn about different cultures to help me understand how I can advocate for the health of marginalized groups and people who don’t receive the healthcare they need or have been medically neglected. My plans after my undergrad are to go to either medical school or law school, with the goal of becoming a neurosurgeon/neurologist or medical lawyer. I have many ambitions for the medical world that I don’t like to look at as dreams, but as goals for me to achieve that I am passionate about.

Sports is another thing I’m passionate about—I love lacrosse and figure skating. I skate for the London Skating Club and have also been coaching on and off for the past year as a PA for the Six Nations Skating Club. I’m also a member of the women’s varsity lacrosse team here at Western and play for the Six Nations Warriors in the summer. I’m looking forward to the rest of my undergrad here, and all the support from the ISC is one of the many things I’ve utilized to help me through my first year and hopefully into the future as well.

Second-Entry Programs

Some specialized programs at Western require two to four years of university study prior to entry. Admission to these programs involves specific university prerequisites, admission or aptitude tests, interviews and supplementary information, depending on the program. The following second-entry programs are dedicated to encouraging Indigenous students to apply by creating Indigenous-specific pathways and supports.

IVEY BUSINESS SCHOOL | ivey.uwo.ca
Honours Business Administration (HBA)
Minimum of two years of undergraduate study + two years to complete the HBA program.
Financial support for Indigenous people through the Kenneth R. Good Family First Nations Student Award.

SCHULICH SCHOOL OF MEDICINE & DENTISTRY | schulich.uwo.ca
Doctor of Medicine (MD)
Four years of university study + four years to complete the MD program. Five designated seats for Indigenous people.
Doctor of Dental Surgery (DDS)
Four years of university study + four years to complete the DDS program. Two designated seats for Indigenous people.

FACULTY OF EDUCATION | edu.uwo.ca
Bachelor of Education (BEd)
Four years of undergraduate study + two years to complete the BEd program. Designated seats for Indigenous students through submission of an equity admissions application.
Strategic planning to support Indigenous students.

FACULTY OF LAW | law.uwo.ca
Juris Doctor (JD)
Minimum three years of university study + three years to complete the JD program. Indigenous Admissions process: Average of B+ and an LSAT score above the 60th percentile.

KING’S SCHOOL OF SOCIAL WORK | socialwork.kings.uwo.ca
Minimum two years of undergraduate study + two years to complete the BSW program. Two designated seats for Indigenous students.

• Honours thesis topic: Indigiqueer Fluidity, Futurity, & Subversion in Poetics
• Former Arts & Humanities Students’ Council Pres.
• Recipient of the Beryl Ivey Scholarship

Boozhoo! Ndishnikaaz Jack. I’ve completed my degree at Western, and have transitioned into working full time in the Office of Indigenous Affairs and Engagement at Health Canada. I’m proud to step forward into a Reconciliation-centred career, and I’m appreciative of this opportunity to reflect on my time at Western. One of the roles I’m most grateful for is my council presidency. As the former Arts & Humanities Students’ Council (AHSC) President, I created the Equity Portfolio with six new roles, and wrote the subsequent constitutional policies to restructure AHSC in the interest of equity and inclusion-based programming to better ensure that marginalized students are actively supported while navigating university. I also founded and coordinated $10,000 of new equity-based scholarships for the faculty through the Council budget. These scholarships were awarded, at $2000 each, to five categories of students: 2SLGBTQIA+ students, students with disabilities, Indigenous students, women of colour, and first-generation students. AHSC has opted to continue this work with the foundation I laid.

While I’m proud of my time at Western, and there is plenty more to reflect on, what I’m truly most excited for these days is what the future holds as I connect to my Anishinaabeg relatives, culture, and self. I grew up unknown to my bio-relatives in Kettle & Stony Point. Recently, I’ve finally gained the resources to bridge those connections, and my relationships with my many cousins have begun to flourish. The future is looking bright. Chi-miigwech and baamaapii, Western and ISC!
Graduate Programs

Western is one of Canada’s leading research-intensive universities. Our researchers, teachers and graduate students are leaders in their field and conduct innovative research in exciting and emerging areas.

HIGHLIGHTS
- 70 Graduate Programs and 50 Doctoral Programs
- Professional Master’s Program
- Interdisciplinary Programs

Master of Professional Education (MPEd Program)

Field of Leadership in Indigenous Education

Six Nations Polytechnic, Six Nations of the Grand River Territory

This course-based master’s program prepares educators for a range of leadership roles in schools, school systems, colleges, adult learning settings and related agencies. In addition to a thorough grounding in the theories and practices of leadership, graduates of the program will have a comprehensive understanding of Indigenous knowledge and pedagogy and the historical and contemporary conditions of Indigenous education in Canada.

The Leadership in Indigenous Education program brings together students from a diverse range of ancestries and workplace backgrounds to critically engage with relevant issues in Indigenous education. The program is designed around a cohort model that promotes peer support, class cohesion, high completion rates and continuity of learning from one course to the other.

Priority will be given to Indigenous applicants.

Graduate Programs with Indigenous Admissions Pathways

Master of Physical Therapy

Indigenous applicants may be considered for designated seats if they:
- have a GPA over 3.4 over their last full-time credits
- have earned a grade of 70% or higher in the prerequisite courses
- are ranked above average on the CASPer situational judgement test
- are ranked highly by reviewers

MScOT info

- Each year Western’s program for the Master of Science in Occupation Therapy (MScOT) reserves two spaces for students who identify as Indigenous with Canadian citizenship. Indigenous applicants will be considered on a case-by-case basis. In order to be successful in the program, it is strongly recommended that applicants have a minimum SubGPA of 3.0.

Post-Degree Diploma Programs
In partnership with several Western faculties, Western Continuing Studies offers one-year diploma and certificate programs to complement your degree. Post-degree diploma programs are designed for university students and graduates wanting specific knowledge, skills and experience that today’s employers demand. Graduates of these programs receive a Western University diploma and benefit from hands-on work placements that add valuable experience to your degree.

Diploma Programs offered:
- Clinical Trials Management
- Human Resources
- Marketing
- Not-for-Profit Management
- Occupational Health and Safety Management
- Pedorthics
- Public Relations
- Web development

Programs and Events
All Indigenous students from Western, King’s, Brescia and Huron can participate in programs and events offered by the ISC throughout the year. We ask all students to complete an online user agreement to stay informed about upcoming events and programming. Our programming and events help build a sense of community on campus.

Visiting Elders and Cultural Knowledge Keepers
- Available by appointment to provide cultural supports and teaching

Student Supports
- Tutors and academic support
- Monthly Corn Soup Lunches
- Nutrition support and kitchen facilities
- Computer lab and printing
- Financial aid advising
- Employment listings
- Social events
- Visiting Aunts and Uncles Program
- Indigenous Circles of Support and Leadership Program
- Indigenous Student Transition Program

Indigenous Awareness Programming
- Indigenous speakers and workshops
- Indigenous film screenings
- MMIWG2S speakers and events

Annual Events
- Indigenous Student Graduation Ceremony
- National Day for Truth and Reconciliation (September 30th)
- Louis Riel Day
- Treaties Week

Youth Engagement

Mini-University
Indigenous youth are encouraged to apply to our summer Mini-University for an opportunity to experience university life.
Age groups: Otters (12-14), Cranes (14-17)

Youth Track and Field Day
Every year, we collaborate with Western’s Track and Field Team to welcome Grade 7 and 8 students to campus to train for a day with our varsity team. It’s an exciting day of athletic activity that includes long jump, shot put, sprints, relay races and more!

Indigenous Academic Tutor Program
In partnership with Thames Valley District School Board (TVDSB)
This is an employment opportunity for Indigenous students at Western to provide culturally relevant academic support to secondary students across TVDSB virtually and in person.
Indigenous Student Transition Program (ISTP)

The Indigenous Student Centre has offered our transition program for students for more than 15 years. This program is designed to help you transition into university life, and support begins as soon as you accept your offer from Western.

Summer
- ✓ Sign up to be in our Indigenous Student Transition Program. The application is a way for our Indigenous Student Recruitment Coordinator and Academic Advisor to learn more about you and how to best support your journey at Western in the fall.
- ✓ Attend ISTP Orientation at the end of August, before OWeek starts!

Fall/Winter
- ✓ Meet one-on-one with our academic advisor for academic and personal support
- ✓ Attend academic workshops
- ✓ Meet with one of our excellent tutors!
- ✓ Take part in our cultural programming
- ✓ Meet with a visiting elder
- ✓ Attend the various workshops offered throughout the year
- ✓ Join the Indigenous Circles of Support and Leadership Program. This collection of students meets once a month for two hours to de-stress from classes and build community.

Student Life

During your time at Western, you will have a wide variety of options to get involved in campus life and enrich your experience. Here are some of the Indigenous organizations and support systems available to you.

Indigenous Students’ Association (ISA)
The ISA maintains a sense of community amongst students and across campus. It provides programming, events, and workshops to educate Western’s campus about Indigenous Peoples, Nations, and cultures, as well as current issues involving Indigenous Peoples.

Indigenous Relations Coordinator
- indigenousrelations@westernusc.ca
- Instagram: indigenousrelationsusc
- Facebook: Indigenous Relations USC

Infinite Reach: Métis Student Solidarity Network
A network of Métis post-secondary students across the province who share experiences and support one another in their academic pursuits. Its goal is to create a community of students who can easily connect with one another.
- infinitereach@metisnation.org

Supporting Aboriginal Graduate Enhancement (SAGE)
SAGE is a peer-based support network for Indigenous graduate students aimed at facilitating transition and enhancing retention and graduation rates. This program is operated jointly by the Indigenous Student Centre and the Society of Graduate Students.
- sagecoordinator@uwo.ca

Volunteering Opportunities
Getting involved through volunteer work enriches the student experience in many ways. Volunteering provides an opportunity to meet new people, make meaningful connections and build career readiness. Visit our website for a diverse list of experiences.

Head and Heart Indigenous Research Fellowship
Open to undergraduate students, Head and Heart is a unique summer research program run by Research Western and the Office of Indigenous Initiatives. Indigenous students are given bursaries to complete 14 weeks of research with a designated faculty member. They are encouraged to bring ways of learning that respect both the head and the heart within their research projects.

Impact Experience
Impact Experience collaborates with communities to develop and implement projects that align with their needs. Student team leaders are vital to the success of the program, and serve as ambassadors from Western who can both gain and impart intercultural perspectives.

Going Abroad
There are many ways to include an international learning experience into your degree, from short-term to year-long programs in various parts of the world. Indigenous-focused exchange opportunities are available with the University of Otago in Dunedin, New Zealand and Monash University in Melbourne, Australia.
Financial Aid

Financial Services, the Office of Indigenous Initiatives and the Indigenous Student Centre work collaboratively to support your financial health while in university. To learn more about available financial aid, please visit: indigenous.uwo.ca/students/financial/index.html
